WASHINGTON D.C.

TOP 5 SPOTS TO VISIT

The Lincoln Memorial

The Lincoln Memorial stands at the far end of the mall, separated from the Washington Monument by the Reflecting Pool. At its center is a 19-foot marble statue of President Abraham Lincoln surrounded by 36 columns, one for each of the states that existed at the time of his death. This is the most famous work designed by noted sculptor Daniel Chester French.

The White House

The White House is the official residence of the President of the United States. The free White House Visitor Center has excellent interactive exhibits that show details about the White House and the presidential families. It includes furniture of past presidents, a model of the residence, historical changes and videos.

The Washington Monument

The 555-foot white shaft of the Washington Monument is a familiar icon of the National Mall built to commemorate George Washington, once a commander-in-chief of the Continental Army and the first American President. The Washington Monument is both the world's tallest stone structure and the world's tallest obelisk.

National Gallery of Art

The National Gallery of Art is one of the world's premier art museums and one of the most popular in the United States. Based on the sizable collection of financier, and later Treasury Secretary, Andrew Mellon, its large and diverse collection includes masterpieces of European and American paintings, sculpture, and decorative arts.

National Air and Space Museum

The National Air and Space Museum holds the largest collection of historic aircraft and spacecraft in the world. This museum is a center for research into the history and science of aviation and spaceflight, as well as planetary science and terrestrial geology. Almost all space and aircraft on display are originals or the original backup craft.
