LOS ANGELES

TOP 5 SPOTS TO VISIT

The Broad

One of Los Angeles' newest cultural attractions, The Broad opened in late 2015 and was immediately an overwhelming success. The museum focuses on contemporary and postwar art, with some large and dramatic installations. More than 2,000 works of art are on display in this unique building, with a "veil-and-vault" concept.

Santa Monica

Santa Monica is an exclusive destination that is both chic and laid-back, with a population that ranges from surfers, skateboarders, and yoga devotees to techies and business people. The stunning stretch of golden sand along the coast and the famous Santa Monica Pier, with its iconic Ferris wheel, are what most tourists come to enjoy.

The Getty Center

The Getty Center, designed by Richard Meier, is a vast complex measuring 0.75 square miles and set on 110 acres. The exclusively designed building and the gorgeous grounds provide the perfect setting for this impressive museum. Collections include European paintings, drawings, sculpture, and decorative arts, as well as 19th- and 20th-century photography.

Natural History Museum

The Natural History Museum is best known for its collection of dinosaurs. The 14,000-square-foot Dinosaur Hall has an awesome display of dinosaur skeletons, including a series of Tyrannosaurus Rex fossils, known as the growth series, featuring three full skeletons that range from baby to adult. Also on display are a Triceratops and a Stegosaurus.

Griffith Park and Griffith Observatory

The National Air and Space Museum holds the largest collection of historic aircraft and spacecraft in the world. This museum is a center for research into the history and science of aviation and spaceflight, as well as planetary science and terrestrial geology. Almost all space and aircraft on display are originals or the original backup craft.
